The Forced Entry Protection Blind (FEP Blind) is an aesthetically acceptable internal grill which not only gives high level protection against forced entry but are a direct replacement for traditional sun blinds.

Designed to harmonise with both home and office environments, the FEP Blind will give you the protection you need without creating a "prison" like environment.

Proven security

The FEP Blinds have been independently tested on a number of different occasions to a variety of testing standards including CPNI and LPS1175 as well as internal testing processes to improve the resilience of the designs.
